- c) applying dissimilar conditions to equivalent or similar transactions with other parties, thereby placing them at unequal and unfavorable competitive position;
- d) conclusion of the contracts subject to acceptance by the other party of additional obligations which, by their nature or according to commercial practice, have no connection with a subject of such contract.

Article 11 (Decision on Abuse of a Dominant Position)

(1) Pursuant to Articles 9 and 10 of this Act, the Council of Competition issues corresponding decision which:

a) determines a dominant position and activities of economic entities which abuse that position and prevent, restrict or distort market competition, and the duration of such activities;

b) prohibits any further acting of economic entity;

c) determines the terms and measures for elimination of harmful effects of such practice;

d) determines to economic entity to carry out appropriate measures which contribute in ensuring of competition between the economic entities in the relevant market, and deadlines for their implementation.

(2) If the Council of Competition does not issue a decision referred to in Article 41 paragraph (1) point c) of this Act, it shall be deemed that concluded agreement or practice of the economic entity is not abuse of dominant position.

(3) If decision is not adopted under paragraph (2) of this Article, at the specific request of the economic entity, the Council of Competition shall issue a decision, in accordance with the procedure of this Act, stating that concluded agreement or the practice of the economic entity is not abuse a dominant position.

Article 12 (Concentration)

(1) Concentration, pursuant to this Act, is deemed to be:

a) joining or merger of independent economic entities or parts of economic entities;

b) the acquisition of control or prevailing influence of one or more economic entities over other economic entity, or over more other economic entities or a part of other economic entity, or the parts of other economic entities, as it is :

1) acquisition by purchasing the majority of shares or share capital, or

2) acquisition of majority of voting rights, or

3) otherwise, in accordance with the provisions of the laws governing the establishment of economic entities and their management;

c) joint venture on a long lasting basis, of two or more independent economic entities, acting as an independent economic entity.

(2) Acquisition of control in terms of paragraph (1) of this Article can be achieved through exercise of a right, by concluding agreements or by other means by which one or more economic entities, whether separately, either jointly, taking into account all legal and factual circumstances, acquire the possibility of exercising a dominant influence over one or more economic entities.

(1)The following in terms of paragraph (1) of this Article shall not be considered as concentration:

a) when banking and other financial institutions or insurance companies, in their regular operations, temporarily acquire shares or shares with the intention of reselling them and put them on sale within the 12 months, and if, within a specified period, ownership of the shares is not used in a way to affect the competitive behavior of the legal entity, or do not take measures which distort, restrict or prevent market competition. Council of Competition may extend the deadline at the request of a party if economic entity proves that transaction can not be implemented within the determined period.

b) when it comes to acquiring control over the economic entity by the person who performs the function of bankruptcy or liquidation manager in terms of the law on bankruptcy and liquidation;

c) when the joint venture is aimed at coordination of market activities between two or more economic entities which retain their independence, in which case the joint venture will be assessed in accordance with Article (4) of this Act.

Article 13 (Prohibited Concentrations)

Prohibited are the concentrations of economic entities, which as a result have a significant distortion of the efficient market competition, in the entire market of Bosnia and Herzegovina or its significant part, especially those which create new or strengthen an existing dominant position.

Article 14 (Total Income for the control of concentration)

(1) The intended concentration of economic entities, referred to in Article 12 paragraph (1) of this Act, is required to be notified by parties to the concentration, if the following conditions are met:
